

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An information recording apparatus of this invention includes a MAIN MPU for generating manager information representing the correspondence between a compressed content and a program for expanding the content, and a disc drive section for recording the content, program, and manager information on an information recording medium.

5

0942617-083101